ASPECTS of WESTERN CIVILIZATION

Problems and Sources in History

Seventh Edition

Edited by
PERRY M. ROGERS
For Ann,
Elisa, Kit, and Tyler
BRIEF CONTENTS

VOLUME 1
THE ANCIENT WORLD THROUGH THE REFORMATION

PART I THE FOUNDATIONS OF CIVILIZATION 1
1 Civilization in the Ancient Near East: Mesopotamia, Egypt, and Israel 1

PART II THE GREEK WORLD 35
2 Legend and History: The World of Early Greece 35
3 Democracy and Empire: The Golden Age of Athens 51
4 The Age of Alexander the Great 91

PART III THE ROMAN WORLD 111
5 The Roman Republic: Origins, Breakdown, and Rebirth 111
6 Caesar and Christ 143
7 The Pax Romana and the Decline of Rome 175

PART IV THE MEDIEVAL WORLD 201
8 Icon, Scimitar, and Cross: Early Medieval Civilization (500–1100) 201
9 The Sword of Faith: The High Middle Ages (1100–1300) 232
10 The Waning of the Middle Ages (1300–1450) 269

PART V TRANSITIONS TO THE MODERN WORLD 287
11 The Age of the Renaissance 287
12 The Reformation Era 309
13 “An Embarrassment of Riches”: The Interaction of New Worlds 351
VOLUME 2
THE AGE OF THE RENAISSANCE THROUGH THE CONTEMPORARY WORLD

PART I  FOUNDATIONS OF THE MODERN WORLD  1
1  The Age of Renaissance and Reformation  1
2  “I Am the State”: The Development of Absolutism in England and France  22
3  “Dare to Know!”: The Scientific Revolution  49
4  The Enlightenment and the Revolution of the Mind  65

PART II  THE ERA OF REVOLUTION  91
5  “Liberty, Equality, Fraternity!": The French Revolution  91
6  Paths of Glory: Napoleon and the Romantic Movement  119
7  “A World To Win!": The Industrial Revolution  137
8  Fatherland: The Power of Nationalism  174
9  “Mark Them with Your Dead!": The Scramble for Global Empire  195
10  Fin de Siècle: The Birth of the Modern Era  213

PART III  THE TWENTIETH CENTURY AND BEYOND  235
11  The Great War (1914–1918)  235
12  The Russian Revolution and the Development of the Soviet State (1917–1939)  262
13  Europe between the Wars: Fascism and the Nazi Rise to Power (1919–1939)  290
14  “The Abyss Also Looks into You”: War and Holocaust (1939–1945)  321
15  The Era of the Superpowers: Cold War Confrontation (1945–1990)  269
16  The Dynamics of Change in the Contemporary World (1990–2010)  406
CONTENTS

THEMATIC CONTENTS xxii
PREFACE xxxvi

PART I
FOUNDATIONS OF THE MODERN WORLD 1

1 THE AGE OF RENAISSANCE AND REFORMATION 1

Section I: The Renaissance Movement 2

The Humanist Movement 3

Oration on the Dignity of Man (1486) PICO DELLA MIRANDOLA 3
The Soul of Man (1474) MARSILIO FICINO 4

The Political Life of Florence 5

The Rule of Cosimo de’Medici VESPASIANO 5
The Prince: “Everyone Sees What You Appear to Be, Few Perceive What You Are” NICCOLÒ MACHIAVELLI 6

Section II: The Reformation Era 9

The Lutheran Reformation 11

“How Many Sins Are Committed in a Single Day?” (1517) JOHANN TETZEL 11
Salvation through Faith Alone MARTIN LUTHER 12
The Ninety-Five Theses (1517) MARTIN LUTHER 13
“How Here I Stand”: Address at the Diet of Worms (1521) MARTIN LUTHER 14
The Edict of Worms (1521) EMPEROR CHARLES V 15
CONTENTS

In the Wake of Luther 16

John Calvin and the Genevan Reformation 16

On the Necessity of Reforming the Church (1544)  JOHNN CALVIN 17
Predestination: Institutes of the Christian Religion (1536)  JOHNN CALVIN 18

The Catholic Reformation 19

Spiritual Exercises (1548)  IGNATIUS LOYOLA 19
The Council of Trent: Profession of Faith 20
The Tridentine Index of Books (1564)  20

2 “I AM THE STATE”: THE DEVELOPMENT OF ABSOLUTISM IN ENGLAND AND FRANCE 22

The English Revolution (1649–1689) 26

The Origins of Confrontation (1603–1625) 26
Charles I and the Limitations of Royal Authority (1625–1642) 26
The English Civil War (1642–1649) 27
The Struggle for Constitutional Government (1649–1660) 27
“The Mortal God”: Leviathan (1651)  THOMAS HOBBES 28
The Instrument of Government (December 16, 1653)  30
Cromwell Denies the Crown (May 8, 1657)  OLIVER CROMWELL 31
THE REFLECTION IN THE MIRROR  Oliver Cromwell: The Lord Protector 32
“To You Our Country Owes Its Liberties”  JOHN MILTON 32
“Guilty of Crimes for Which Hell-Fire Is Prepared”  EDWARD HYDE OF CLARENDON 34

The Restoration and the Glorious Revolution (1660–1689) 34

“A Force Sufficient to Defend Us from the Violence of Those Evil Counsellors”
WILLIAM OF ORANGE 35
The Bill of Rights (1689) 36

The Absolutism of Louis XIV 36

The Theory of Divine-Right Monarchy 37
The Ideal Absolute State (1697)  JEAN DOMAT 37
Politics and Scripture (1679)  JACQUES BÉNIGNE BOSSUET 39

The Sun King and the Practice of Absolute Rule 40

“Vanity Was His Ruin”  THE DUKE OF SAINT-SIMON 40
Letters to His Heirs: “ Allow Good Sense to Act”  KING LOUIS XIV 43
“A Frightful Plot”: The Revocation of the Edict of Nantes  THE DUKE OF SAINT-SIMON 45
3 “DARE TO KNOW!”: THE SCIENTIFIC REVOLUTION 49

Science and the Church 51

- The Heliocentric Statement (ca. 1520)
  NICOLAUS COPERNICUS 52
- On the Movement of the Earth (1543)
  NICOLAUS COPERNICUS 52
- Science and the Bible: “They Would Have Us Abandon Reason” (1615)
  GALILEO GALILEI 53

The Reflection in the Mirror Galileo Absolved: The Resolution 56

- “Science and Faith Are Both Gifts from God” (1993)
  POPE JOHN PAUL II 56

The Foundations of Modern Science 58

- The Advancement of Learning (1605)
  SIR FRANCIS BACON 58
- “I Think, Therefore I Am”: Discourse on Method (1637)
  RENÉ DESCARTES 59

Against the Grain On the Circulation of the Blood 60

- “A Motion, As It Were, in a Circle”
  WILLIAM HARVEY 60

- Principles of Analysis—Induction and God: Optics (1704)
  SIR ISAAC NEWTON 63

4 THE ENLIGHTENMENT AND THE REVOLUTION OF THE MIND 65

Thoughts on the Human Condition and Human Progress 68

- The Blank Slate of the Mind: An Essay Concerning Human Understanding (1690)
  JOHN LOCKE 68

Against the Grain On Crimes and Punishments 69

- “The Greatest Happiness of the Greatest Number”
  CESARE BECCARIA 69

Thoughts on Religion 71

- God—“A Cause Contradicted by Its Effects”: Common Sense (1770)
  BARON D’HOLBACH 71
- On Universal Toleration
  VOLTAIRE 72
- “If God Did Not Exist, He Would Have to Be Invented”
  VOLTAIRE 74

Thoughts on Education 74

- Introduction to the Encyclopedia (1751)
  JEAN LE ROND D’ALEMBERT 74
- “We Did Not Live Entirely in Vain” (1764)
  DENIS DIDEROT 76
CONTENTS

Thoughts on Government: The Political Framework 77

Second Treatise of Civil Government (1690)  JOHN LOCKE 77
The Spirit of the Laws (1748)  BARON DE MONTESQUIEU 80
The Social Contract (1762)  JEAN JACQUES ROUSSEAU 80
The Declaration of Independence (1776)  THOMAS JEFFERSON 83

Thoughts on Women: The Social Framework 84

Woman: “Especially Constituted to Please Man”  JEAN-JACQUES ROUSSEAU 84
A Vindication of the Rights of Women (1792)  MARY WOLLSTONECRAFT 85

Thoughts on Commerce: The Economic Framework 87

The Wealth of Nations (1776)  ADAM SMITH 87

PART II
THE ERA OF REVOLUTION 91

5 “LIBERTY, EQUALITY, FRATERNITY!”: THE FRENCH REVOLUTION 91

Conditions of Society on the Eve of Revolution 93

Corruption of the French Court  MARQUIS D’ARGENSON 93
“Ancient Oaks Mutilated by Time”  MARQUIS DE BOUILLE 94
The Grievances of Carcassonne 94
Beggars, Rags, and Misery  ARTHUR YOUNG 95

The Outbreak of Revolution (1789–1791) 96

“What Is the Third Estate?” (January 1789)  THE ABBÉ SIÉYÈS 96
Women of the Third Estate: “We Ask to Be Enlightened” (January 1789) 97
The Tennis Court Oath (June 20, 1789) 98
The Fall of the Bastille (July 14, 1789) 99
Declaration of the Rights of Man (August 27, 1789) 101

AGAINST THE GRAIN The Flip Side of Liberty 103

Declaration of the Rights of Woman (1791)  OLYMPE DE GOUGES 103

Reflections on the Revolution (1790)  EDMUND BURKE 106

The Radicalization of the Revolution (1792–1794) 107
The Fall of Louis XVI (1792–1793) 107
The Execution of Louis XVI (January 21, 1793) HENRY EDGEWORTH DE FIRMONT 108
Proclamation of the Convention to the French People (January 23, 1793) 109
Reflections on Louis XVI MME ROLAND 110
THE REFLECTION IN THE MIRROR A Revolutionary Reality Check 111
An Update on the Political Rights of Women (1793) 111

The Reign of Terror (1793–1794) 112
“You Would Exterminate All Your Enemies by the Guillotine!” (December 20, 1793)
CAMILLE DESMOULINS 113

The Death of Marat (1793) JACQUES-LOUIS DAVID 114
And What Happened to Jacques-Louis David? 115

“Virtue and Terror”: Speech to the Convention (February 5, 1794)
MAXIMILIEN ROBESPIERRE 116
The Administration of Terror (June 10, 1794) 117
The Execution of Robespierre (July 28, 1794) DURAND DE MAILLANE 118

6 PATHS OF GLORY: NAPOLEON AND THE ROMANTIC MOVEMENT 119

The Napoleonic Era (1796–1815) 123

The Will to Power (1796–1802) 123

On the Realities of Power (1796) NAPOLEON BONAPARTE 123
Suppression of the Newspapers (1800) 124
Articles for the Catholic Church (1802) 124

The Imperial Mantle (1804–1806) 125
“The Only Salvation Lies in Hereditary Power” (December 1804)
NAPOLEON BONAPARTE 125
Why the French Submitted to Napoleon’s Rule (1804) COMTESSE DE RÉMUSAT 126
The Imperial Catechism (April 1806) 127

AGAINST THE GRAIN Beethoven’s Eroica Symphony:
“To the Memory of a Great Man” 128
CONTENTS

Exile and Death: The Hero in History  131
Napoleon in Exile: “We Stand as Martyrs to an Immortal Cause!” NAPOLEON BONAPARTE  131
The Role of Great Men in History  G. W. F. HEGEL  132

The Romantic Movement (1780–1830)  132
“The Erlking” JOHANN WOLFGANG VON GOETHE  133
Terror and the Macabre: Frankenstein (1818) MARY WOLLSTONECRAFT SHELLEY  134

THE ARTISTIC VISION “The Tyrant of Europe”  135
“Ode to Napoleon Bonaparte” (1814) LORD BYRON  135
The Third of May, 1808  FRANCISCO GOYA  136

“A WORLD TO WIN!”: THE INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION  137

Rural and Urban Transformations  139
The Dependent Poor (1795) DAVID DAVIES  140
“How Are Men to Provide for Their Families?” A Worker’s Petition (1786)  141

The Urban Landscape  143
The Factory System  143
Sybil (1845) BENJAMIN DISRAELI  143
The Sadler Report: “Not Many as Deformed as I Am” (1832)  144
Child Labor  146
A Defense of the Factory System (1835) ANDREW URE  149

Living Conditions  151
The Condition of the Working Class in England (1844) FRIEDRICH ENGELS  151
The Impact of the Factory System on Women and the Family  FRIEDRICH ENGELS  152

Reaction and Reform  153
AGAINST THE GRAIN The Horrors of the Slave Trade  153
“A Scene of Horror Almost Inconceivable” OLAUDA EQUIANO  154
“We Can No Longer Plead Ignorance” WILLIAM WILBERFORCE  155

Law and Liberty: The Liberal Truth  157
The Iron Law of Wages (1817) DAVID RICARDO  157
The Chartist Demands (1838)  159
A Middle-Class Perspective (1859) SAMUEL SMILES  160
THE ARTISTIC VISION  The Social Perspective by Train  162
  Over London by Rail  GUSTAVE DORÉ  162
  Third Class Carriage  HONORÉ DAUMIER  163

Visions of a New World: The Socialist Truth  164
Utopian Socialism (1816)  ROBERT OWEN  164
The Communist Manifesto (1848)  KARL MARX AND FRIEDRICH ENGELS  166

THE REFLECTION IN THE MIRROR  A Papal Perspective:  Rerum Novarum  170
“‘A Yoke Little Better Than That of Slavery Itself’”  POPE LEO XIII  170

8 FATHERLAND: THE POWER OF NATIONALISM  174

Volksgeist: The “Spirit of the People” (1815–1850)  176
The Conservative Confession of Faith  PRINCE KLEMENS VON METTERNICH  176
Stirrings: The People and the Fatherland  JOHANN GOTTLIEB FICHTE  178
The Duties of Man  GIUSEPPE MAZZINI  180

THE REFLECTION IN THE MIRROR  The Greek Revolution of 1820  181
“To Avenge Ourselves against a Frightful Tyranny”  181
Greece Expiring on the Ruins of Missolonghi (1826)  EUGÈNE DELACROIX  183
“A Moderate Amount of Happiness for All Men”  ALEXIS DE TOCQUEVILLE  184
1848: “A Great Outburst of Elemental Forces Had Begun”  CARL SCHURZ  184

The Political Unification of Italy and Germany (1850–1890)  187
Proclamation for the Liberation of Sicily (1860)  GIUSEPPE GARIBALDI  188
Address to the Italian Parliament (1871)  KING VICTOR EMMANUEL II  189
“We Germans Fear God, and Nothing Else in the World”: Speech to the Reichstag (1888)
  OTTO VON BISMARCK  190

AGAINST THE GRAIN  The Zionist Movement  192
The Jewish State (1896)  THEODOR HERZL  193

9 “MARK THEM WITH YOUR DEAD!”: THE SCRAMBLE FOR GLOBAL EMPIRE  195

“Send Forth the Best Ye Breed!”: The Foundations of Imperialism  198
Racism and the Corruption of Science  199
The Descent of Man (1871)  CHARLES DARWIN  199
The Standpoint of Science (1900)  KARL PEARSON  200
CONTENTS

For God and Country 202

The Mandate System: Britain's Duty in Egypt (1890)  JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN 202
“France Must Be a Great Country!” (1883)  JULES FERRY 203
Germany's Place in the Sun (1901)  KAISER WILHELM II 204
“The White Man's Burden” (1899)  RUDYARD KIPLING 205

“To Seek Another's Profit and Work Another's Gain” 206

“Your New-Caught Sullen Peoples” 206

Education in India: “The Intrinsic Superiority of Western Literature” (1835)  THOMAS BABINGTON MACAULAY 207
“Foreign Children”  ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON 208
“A Natural Inclination to Submit to a Higher Authority” (1893)  SIR FREDERICK DEALTRY LUGARD 209

THE REFLECTION IN THE MIRROR “The Judgment of Your Peers” 211
The “White Man’s Face”: Terror in the Congo  FREDERICK STARR 211
“The Battle Hymn of the Republic” (Brought Down to Date)  MARK TWAIN 212

10 Fin de Siècle: The Birth of the Modern Era 213

The Woman Question and Anti-Feminism 216

Seneca Falls Declaration (1848) 217
“Sisters of America! Your Sisters of France Are United with You” (1851)  PAULINE ROLAND AND JEANNE DEROINE 218
Against Woman Suffrage (1884)  FRANCIS PARKMAN 218
“The Brain Weight of Women Is Five Ounces Less Than That of Men” (1887)  GEORGE ROMANES 221

AGAINST THE GRAIN The Independent Woman 222
A Doll’s House (1879)  HENRIK IBSEN 222
“This Is the Logic of Demons!”  JOSEPHINE BUTLER 226
“I Incite This Meeting to Rebellion” (1912)  EMMELINE PANKHURST 227

The Revolt against Reason 229

Faith, Love, and Hope: “Enough! Enough!” (1887)  FRIEDRICH NIETZSCHE 230
“God Is Dead!”  FRIEDRICH NIETZSCHE 232

THE ARTISTIC VISION The Insular World of Edvard Munch 233
The Scream (1893) 233
PART III
THE TWENTIETH CENTURY AND BEYOND 235

11 THE GREAT WAR (1914–1918) 235

The Road to War (1900–1914) 239

The Celebration of War 239

“Without War, No State Could Exist” HEINRICH VON TREITSCHKE 239
“Blind Obedience to Primitive Instincts” (1910) NORMAN ANGELL 240

The Lamps Go Out over Europe 241

Statutes of the “Black Hand” 242
Assassination at Sarajevo: The Plot and Murder (June 28, 1914) 242
“The Sword Is Drawn!” (August 18, 1914) KAISER WILHELM II 244

“They Shall Not Pass”: The Great War (1914–1918) 246

The Horror of Battle 246

The Battle of Verdun (February–December 1916) 247
The Battle of the Somme (July–November 1916) 249
“No Man’s Land” J. KNIGHT-ADKIN 250
“What Are You Fighting For, Michel?” 251

AGAINST THE GRAIN Glory in the Skies: The Red Baron 252
“An Englishman for Breakfast” BARON MANFRED VON RICHTHOFEN 252
“On the Other Side of the Boundary” ERNST UDET 254

It Is Sweet and Proper to Die for One’s Country 254

“Five Souls” W. N. EWER 255
A German War Letter: “One Blood-Soaked, Corpse-Strewn Field”
RICHARD SCHIEMDER 256

THE ARTISTIC VISION The Nightmare of Otto Dix 256
Dance of Death in the Year ‘17: Dead Man Hill 256

Aftermath: The Light That Failed 258

“This Is the Way the World Ends” 258

A German Soldier Returns Home: “A Complete Stranger” ANNA EISENMENGER 259
“If You Want to Endure Life—Prepare for Death” SIGMUND FREUD 260
12 THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION AND THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE SOVIET STATE (1917–1939) 262

The Provisional Government (March–November 1917) 266
“A New, Free Russia Is Born”: First Declaration of the Provisional Government (March 19, 1917) 266
The April Theses (April 20, 1917) V. I. LENIN 268

The Bolshevik Revolution (November–December 1917) 269
The Overthrow of the Provisional Government: “A New Page in the History of Russia”
V. I. LENIN 269
“Little Good Is to Be Expected” (November 8, 1917) IZVESTIA 270
Censorship of the Press (November 9, 1917) V. I. LENIN 271
Establishment of the Secret Police (December 20, 1917) V. I. LENIN 271

The Aftermath of Revolution (1917–1928) 272
State and Revolution: The Transition from Capitalism to Communism (August 1917)
V. I. LENIN 273
“Days of Grueling Work” ALEXANDRA KOLLONTAI 276
The Communist Emancipation of Women (1920) V. I. LENIN 277
“Stalin Is Too Rude” (January 4, 1923) V. I. LENIN 278
Stalin’s Falsification of History (1927) LEON TROTSKY 279

The Development of the Totalitarian State (1928–1938) 281
The Soviet Control of Society 281
Industrialization: “Either Perish or Overtake Capitalistic Countries” (1931) JOSEPH STALIN 281
Collectivization and the Liquidation of the Kulaks (1929) JOSEPH STALIN 282

THE ARTISTIC VISION Engineers of the Soul: The Soviet Creation of Belief 283
Industrial Worker and Collective Farm Girl (1937) VERA MUKHINA 283
“For the Fatherland!” (1936) PRAVDA 285
The Purge Trials: “Traitors Must Be Shot Like Dirty Dogs!” (1938) ANDREI VYSHINSKY 286
The Gulag: “Stalin’s Sadistic Nature Thirsted for Blood!” (1938) 287

THE REFLECTION IN THE MIRROR The Orwellian World 288
“Power Is in Tearing Human Minds to Pieces” GEORGE ORWELL 288

13 EUROPE BETWEEN THE WARS:
FASCISM AND THE NAZI RISE TO POWER (1919–1939) 290

The Legacy of World War I 294
The Rise of Benito Mussolini 294

“The State’s Authority Was Ready for the Grave” (1922) BENITO MUSSOLINI 295
The Fascist March on Rome (October 26, 1922) BENITO MUSSOLINI 295
The Doctrine of Fascism: “This Will Be the Century of the State” BENITO MUSSOLINI 296

“Germany in Her Deepest Humiliation” 298

“I Resolved Now to Become a Politician” ADOLF HITLER 298
“Stabbed in the Back” (1919) PAUL VON HINDENBURG 299
The Treaty of Versailles (1919) 299

The Weimar Republic 301

Germany’s Unstable Democracy: The Best and Worst of Times 301

The Weimar Constitution: Fundamental Rights and Duties of the Germans (1919) 301
Inflation: “The Boiling Kettle of a Wicked Witch” LILO LINKE 302

Hitler’s Response to Germany’s Problems 303

The Nazi Program (1920) 303
Nazi Political Rally Announcement (February 1921)
   NATIONAL SOCIALIST GERMAN WORKERS’ PARTY 306

Nazi Appeal and Victory 306

Nazi Propaganda 307

Nationalists, Socialists, and Jews (1930) JOSEPH GOEBBELS 307
Free Germany! (1932) 309
Nazi Victory by the Numbers: Elections to the German Reichstag (1924–1932) 309

Chancellor to Dictator 311

Decree for the Protection of the People and State (February 28, 1933) 311
The Enabling Act (March 24, 1933) 311
Law against the New Formation of Parties (July 14, 1933) 312
Law Concerning the Head of the German State (August 1, 1934) 312

The Role of the Family in the Nazi State 312

“Our Fanatical Fellow-Combatants” (September 8, 1934) ADOLF HITLER 313
“The Disenfranchisement of Women” HANNA SCHMITT 314
Hitler Youth: “Tough as Leather, Hard as Krupp Steel” ADOLF HITLER 315

Conversion and Resistance 316

“Now I Know Which Road to Take” JOSEPH GOEBBELS 317
“I Had Given Him My Heart” KURT LUDECKE 317
CONTENTS

AGAINST THE GRAIN

“Guilty! Guilty! Guilty!” 318
Leaflets of “The White Rose” (1942)
HANS AND SOPHIE SCHOLL 318

14 “THE ABYSS ALSO LOOKS INTO YOU”:

WAR AND HOLOCAUST (1939–1945) 321

The Road to War (1938–1939) 325

The Czechoslovak Crisis (September 1938–March 1939) 325

“The Misery of the Sudeten Germans Is Indescribable” (September 12, 1938)
ADOLF HITLER 326
“Czechoslovakia Has Ceased to Exist” (March 15, 1939)
ADOLF HITLER 327
“I Bitterly Regret What Has Now Occurred” (March 15, 1939)
NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN 328

The Invasion of Poland (September 1939) 329

“Our Enemies Are Little Worms” (August 22, 1939)
ADOLF HITLER 329

“Everything I Have Hoped for Has Crashed into Ruins” (September 3, 1939)
NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN 330

Total War (1939–1943) 332

The Battlefield and the Home Front 334

Alone: “Their Finest Hour” (June 18, 1940)
WINSTON CHURCHILL 334

The Battle of Britain: “So Much Owed by So Many to So Few” (August 20, 1940)
WINSTON CHURCHILL 334

London Aflame!
MRS. ROBERT HENREY 335

“A Date Which Will Live in Infamy”
PRESIDENT FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT 336

Women in the Factories: “My Hands Are as Smooth as the Steel I Worked On” (August 1943)
ELIZABETH HAWES 337

The Jewish Holocaust (1923–1945) 338

“The Jews Are the Cause of Our Misfortune!” 340

The Jewish Peril (April 1923)
ADOLF HITLER 340

“Not a Single Jew” (1932) 341

“I Got You at Last, You Little German Girl!” (1938)
ERNST HIEMER 342

The Radicalization of Anti-Semitism (1938–1941) 343

“Jewish Ghettos Shall Have to Be Created” (November 12, 1938) 343

“The Annihilation of the Jewish Race in Europe!” (January 30, 1939)
ADOLF HITLER 344

“The Jews Are to Blame!” (1941)
JOSEPH GOEBBELS 344
The Final Solution (1942–1945) 345
“A Complete Solution to the Jewish Question” (July 31, 1941) HERMANN GOERING 345
The Wannsee Conference (January 20, 1942) 346

The Death Camps: “Work Makes You Free” 347
Sites of Nazi Concentration Camps 347
Genocide RUDOLF HOESS 348
The Pit HERMANN GRÄBE 349
Gas KURT GERSTEIN 351
Mobile Killing 352
Nazi Medical Experiments DR. FRANZ BLAHA 352
Commandant of Auschwitz RUDOLF HOESS 353

AGAINST THE GRAIN Jewish Resistance 355
Nazi Problems in the Warsaw Ghetto (May 1, 1943) JOSEPH GOEBBELS 355
The Destruction of the Warsaw Ghetto (May 1943) JÜRGEN STROOP 355
Manifesto of the Jewish Resistance in Vilna (September 1943) 356

Götterdämmerung: The Final Destruction (1944–1945) 358
The D-Day Invasions (June 6, 1944) 359
The Paratrooper: “He Was Blown Away” KEN RUSSELL 359
The Assault on Omaha Beach: “I’m Hit! I’m Hit!” HAROLD BAUMGARTEN 360

THE REFLECTION IN THE MIRROR Fiftieth Anniversary of D-Day 361
“When They Were Young, These Men Saved the World” PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON 361
The Vision at Sixty-Five PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA 362
The Funeral Oration of Pericles THUCYDIDES 363

The Aftermath of War 364
The Destruction of Hiroshima (August 6, 1945) HARRY S. TRUMAN 364
Nuremberg: The Crimes of the Nazi Regime JUSTICE ROBERT H. JACKSON 366
The Existential Perspective (1956) JEAN-PAUL SARTRE 367

Retrenchment (1945–1965) 373
The Reconstruction of Europe 373
The Marshall Plan (June 1947) GEORGE C. MARSHALL 374
Program for the Welfare State: The Beveridge Report 375
CONTENTS

The Retreat from Empire 376

Vietnam: “Determined to Fight to the Bitter End” (1945) HO CHI MINH 377
British Rule in India (1946) JAWAHARLAL NEHRU 379
The Arab Nationalist Movement and Revolution (1958) GAMAL ABDEL NASSER 380

The Cold War (1945–1990) 382

The “Superpower” Rivalry 382

The Soviet Victory: Capitalism versus Communism (February 1946) JOSEPH STALIN 383
“An Iron Curtain Has Descended Across the Continent” (March 1946)
SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL 384
The Truman Doctrine (March 1947) HARRY S. TRUMAN 385
Marx Was Wrong: The Flaws of Communism (1953) THEODORE WHITE 386
How to Spot a Communist (1955) 388

Currents of Dissent 390

The New Class (1957) MILOVAN DJILAS 391
“The Victory of Communism Is Inevitable!” The Secret Speech (1962) NIKITA KRUSHCHEV 393
Prague Spring: The Brezhnev Doctrine (1968) 394

“A World Turned Upside Down!” The Gorbachev Era 397

AGAINST THE GRAIN Cracks in the Berlin Wall 397
“Mr. Gorbachev, Tear Down This Wall!” (June 12, 1987) PRESIDENT RONALD REAGAN 398

Perestroika and the Socialist Renewal of Society (September 11, 1989) MIKHAIL GORBACHEV 400
Gorbachev’s Resignation: “This Society Has Acquired Freedom” (December 25, 1991)
MIKHAIL GORBACHEV 402

Political and Economic Initiatives 410

A United Germany in a United Europe (June 5, 1990) HELMUT KOHL 410
The Reconciliation of France and Germany (September 24, 1990) FRANÇOIS MITTERAND 411
“Czechoslovakia Is Returning to Europe” (February 21, 1990) VÁCLAV HAVEL 412
Communism: “Far Away from the Mainstream of Civilization” (December 31, 1999)
VLADIMIR PUTIN 413
Monetary Union: Europe’s Global Role (1998) LAWRENCE H. SUMMERS 415

Ethnic Strife and Terrorism 417

Ethnic Strife in Eastern Europe (April 15, 1994) HELMUT TUERK 417
THE REFLECTION IN THE MIRROR  Balkan Crimes  421
“We Are Witnesses to a Process of Death in the Balkans” (January 12, 1994)
POPE JOHN PAUL II  421
“We We Wage a War to Save Civilization Itself” (2001)  PRESIDENT GEORGE W. BUSH  423

The Islamic World and the West  426
“Fanaticism Is Not a State of Religion, but a State of Mind” (July 11, 2005)
PRIME MINISTER TONY BLAIR  427
“This Is Going to Be Freedom’s Century” (March 29, 2006)  PRESIDENT GEORGE W. BUSH  428
Turkey and the European Union (2009)  PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA  430

AGAINST THE GRAIN  The Future of the West  431
“A New Beginning” (June 4, 2009)  PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA  431
But What About the Burqa?
“The Burqa Is Not Welcome in France”: The Press Conference (June 6, 2009)
PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA AND PRESIDENT NICHOLAS SARKOZY  435
Thematic Contents

PART I: FOUNDATIONS OF THE MODERN WORLD

Chapter 1: The Age of Renaissance and Reformation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Vespasiano: The Rule of Cosimo de’Medici</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emperor Charles V: The Edict of Worms</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Tridentine Index of Books (1564)</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Social and Spiritual Values</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pico della Mirandola: Oration on the Dignity of Man (1486)</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marsilio Ficino: The Soul of Man (1474)</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Johann Tetzel: “How Many Sins Are Committed in a Single Day?” (1517)</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martin Luther: Salvation through Faith Alone The Ninety-five Theses (1517)</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“Here I Stand”: Address at the Diet of Worms (1521)</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Calvin: On the Necessity of Reforming the Church (1544)</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Predestination: Institutes of the Christian Religion (1536)</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ignatius Loyola: Spiritual Exercises (1548)</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Council of Trent: Profession of Faith</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Tridentine Index of Books (1564)</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Revolution and Historical Transition

- Martin Luther: Salvation through Faith Alone The Ninety-five Theses (1517) | 12
- “Here I Stand”: Address at the Diet of Worms (1521) | 14

Chapter 2: “I Am the State”: The Development of Absolutism in England and France

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Instrument of Government (December 16, 1653)</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oliver Cromwell: Cromwell Denies the Crown (May 8, 1657)</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Bill of Rights (1689)</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jean Domat: The Ideal Absolute State (1697)</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jacques Bénigne Bossuet: Politics and Scripture (1679)</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Duke of Saint-Simon: “Vanity Was His Ruin” (1517)</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King Louis XIV: Letters to His Heirs: “Allow Good Sense to Act”</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Duke of Saint-Simon: “A Frightful Plot”: The Revocation of the Edict of Nantes</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Social and Spiritual Values

Jacques Bénigne Bossuet: Politics and Scripture (1679) 39
The Duke of Saint-Simon: “Vanity Was His Ruin” 40

The Institution and the Individual

John Milton: “To You Our Country Owes Its Liberties” 32
Edward Hyde of Clarendon: “Guilty of Crimes for Which Hell-Fire Is Prepared” 34
The Duke of Saint-Simon: “Vanity Was His Ruin” 40
King Louis XIV: Letters to His Heirs: “Allow Good Sense to Act” 43

The Varieties of Truth

John Milton: “To You Our Country Owes Its Liberties” 32
Edward Hyde of Clarendon: “Guilty of Crimes for Which Hell-Fire Is Prepared” 34
William of Orange: “A Force Sufficient to Defend Us from the Violence of Those Evil Counsellors” 35
Jean Colbert: “The Palace of Versailles: A Celebration of Greatness” 47
King Louis XIV: Visible Majesty 48

Chapter 3: “Dare to Know!” The Scientific Revolution 49

The Power Structure

Galileo Galilei: Science and the Bible: “They Would Have Us Abandon Reason” (1615) 53

Social and Spiritual Values

Galileo Galilei: Science and the Bible: “They Would Have Us Abandon Reason” (1615) 53
Pope John Paul II: “Science and Faith Are Both Gifts from God” (1993) 56
Sir Isaac Newton: Principles of Analysis—Induction and God: Optics (1704) 63

The Institution and the Individual

Nicolaus Copernicus: The Heliocentric Statement (ca. 1520) 52
On the Movement of the Earth (1543) 52
Galileo Galilei: Science and the Bible: “They Would Have Us Abandon Reason” (1615) 53
Sir Francis Bacon: The Advancement of Learning (1605) 58
René Descartes: “I Think, Therefore I Am”: Discourse on Method (1637) 59
William Harvey: “A Motion, as It Were, in a Circle” 60

Revolution and Historical Transition

Pope John Paul II: “Science and Faith Are Both Gifts from God” (1993) 56

Chapter 4: The Enlightenment and the Revolution of the Mind

The Power Structure

John Locke: Second Treatise of Civil Government (1690) 77
Baron de Montesquieu: The Spirit of the Laws (1748) 80
Jean Jacques Rousseau: The Social Contract (1762) 80
Thomas Jefferson: The Declaration of Independence (1776) 83
Adam Smith: The Wealth of Nations (1776) 87

Social and Spiritual Values

Baron d’Holbach: God—“A Cause Contradicted by Its Effects”: Common Sense (1770) 71
Voltaire: On Universal Tolerance “If God Did Not Exist, He Would Have to Be Invented” 74

The Institution and the Individual

Cesare Beccaria: “The Greatest Happiness of the Greatest Number” 69
Jean Le Rond d’Alembert: Introduction to the Encyclopedia (1751) 74
Denis Diderot: “We Did Not Live Entirely in Vain” (1764) 76
Thematic Contents

John Locke: The Blank Slate of the Mind: An Essay Concerning Human Understanding (1690) 68
Second Treatise of Civil Government (1690) 77
Baron de Montesquieu: The Spirit of the Laws (1748) 80
Jean Jacques Rousseau: The Social Contract (1762) 80
Adam Smith: The Wealth of Nations (1776) 87

Revolution and Historical Transition

John Locke: Second Treatise of Civil Government (1690) 77

Women in History

Jean-Jacques Rousseau: Woman: “Especially Constituted to Please Man” 84
Mary Wollstonecraft: A Vindication of the Rights of Women (1792) 85

PART II: THE ERA OF REVOLUTION 91

Chapter 5: “Liberty, Equality, Fraternity!” The French Revolution 91

The Power Structure

The Tennis Court Oath (June 20, 1789) 98
The Fall of the Bastille (July 14, 1789) 99
Declaration of the Rights of Man (August 27, 1789) 101
Olympe de Gouges: Declaration of the Rights of Woman (1791) 103
Edmund Burke: Reflections on the Revolution (1790) 106
Henry Edgeworth de Firmont: The Execution of Louis XVI (January 21, 1793) 108
Proclamation of the Convention to the French People (January 23, 1793) 109
Mme Roland: Reflections on Louis XVI 110
Camille Desmoulins: “You Would Exterminate All Your Enemies by the Guillotine!” (December 20, 1793) 113
Maximilien Robespierre: “Virtue and Terror”: Speech to the Convention (February 5, 1794) 116
The Administration of Terror (June 10, 1794) 117
Durand de Maillane: The Execution of Robespierre (July 28, 1794) 118

Social and Spiritual Values

Marquis d’Argenson: Corruption of the French Court 93
Marquis de Bouille: “Ancient Oaks Mutilated by Time” 94
The Grievances of Carcassonne 94
Arthur Young: Beggars, Rags, and Misery 95
The Abbé Sieyès: “What Is the Third Estate?” (January 1789) 96
Women of the Third Estate: “We Ask to Be Enlightened” (January 1789) 97
Maximilien Robespierre: “Virtue and Terror”: Speech to the Convention (February 5, 1794) 116
Jacques-Louis David: The Death of Marat (1793) 114

The Institution and the Individual

Olympe de Gouges: Declaration of the Rights of Woman (1791) 103
Mme Roland: Reflections on Louis XVI 110
An Update on the Political Rights of Women (1793) 111
Camille Desmoulins: “You Would Exterminate All Your Enemies by the Guillotine!” (December 20, 1793) 113
Maximilien Robespierre: “Virtue and Terror”: Speech to the Convention (February 5, 1794) 116
The Administration of Terror (June 10, 1794) 117
Durand de Maillane: The Execution of Robespierre (July 28, 1794) 118

Revolution and Historical Transition

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Tennis Court Oath (June 20, 1789)</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Fall of the Bastille (July 14, 1789)</td>
<td>99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Declaration of the Rights of Man (August 27, 1789)</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Edmund Burke: Reflections on the Revolution (1790)</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Henry Edgeworth de Firmont: The Execution of Louis XVI (January 21, 1793)</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Proclamation of the Convention to the French People (January 23, 1793)</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mme Roland: Reflections on Louis XVI</td>
<td>110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Camille Desmoulins: “You Would Exterminate All Your Enemies by the Guillotine!” (December 20, 1793)</td>
<td>113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maximilien Robespierre: “Virtue and Terror”: Speech to the Convention (February 5, 1794)</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Administration of Terror (June 10, 1794)</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Durand de Maillane: The Execution of Robespierre (July 28, 1794)</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jacques-Louis David: The Death of Marat (1793)</td>
<td>114</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Varieties of Truth

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Edmund Burke</td>
<td>Reflections on the Revolution (1790)</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maximilien Robespierre</td>
<td>“Virtue and Terror”: Speech to the Convention (February 5, 1794)</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jacques-Louis David</td>
<td>The Death of Marat (1793)</td>
<td>114</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Social and Spiritual Values

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Johann Wolfgang von Goethe</td>
<td>“The Erlking”</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley</td>
<td>Terror and the Macabre: Frankenstein (1818)</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Women in History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Women of the Third Estate</td>
<td>“We Ask to Be Enlightened” (January 1789)</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Olympe de Gouges

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Declaration of the Rights of Woman (1791)</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Mme Roland

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Reflections on Louis XVI</td>
<td>110</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>An Update on the Political Rights of Women (1793)</td>
<td>111</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chapter 6: Paths of Glory: Napoleon and the Romantic Movement 119

The Power Structure

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Napoleon Bonaparte</td>
<td>On the Realities of Power (1796)</td>
<td>123</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Napoleon Bonaparte</td>
<td>Suppression of the Newspapers (1800)</td>
<td>124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Napoleon Bonaparte</td>
<td>Articles for the Catholic Church (1802)</td>
<td>124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Napoleon Bonaparte</td>
<td>“The Only Salvation Lies in Hereditary Power” (December 1804)</td>
<td>125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comtesse de Résumat</td>
<td>Why the French Submitted to Napoleon’s Rule (1804)</td>
<td>126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Imperial Catechism (April 1806)</td>
<td>127</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lord Byron</td>
<td>“Ode to Napoleon Bonaparte” (1814)</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Social and Spiritual Values

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Napoleon Bonaparte</td>
<td>Articles for the Catholic Church (1802)</td>
<td>124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Imperial Catechism (April 1806)</td>
<td>127</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G. W. F. Hegel</td>
<td>The Role of Great Men in History</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Johann Wolfgang von Goethe</td>
<td>“The Erlking”</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley</td>
<td>Terror and the Macabre: Frankenstein (1818)</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Institution and the Individual

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Imperial Catechism (April 1806)</td>
<td>127</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Napoleon Bonaparte</td>
<td>On the Realities of Power (1796)</td>
<td>123</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Napoleon Bonaparte</td>
<td>Napoleonic in Exile: “We Stand as Martyrs to an Immortal Cause!”</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G. W. F. Hegel</td>
<td>The Role of Great Men in History</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lord Byron</td>
<td>“Ode to Napoleon Bonaparte” (1814)</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Revolution and Historical Transition

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Napoleon Bonaparte</td>
<td>On the Realities of Power (1796)</td>
<td>123</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Thematic Contents

Suppression of the Newspapers (1800) 124
Articles for the Catholic Church (1802) 124
Comtesse de Rémusat: Why the French Submitted to Napoleon’s Rule (1804) 126
G. W. F. Hegel: The Role of Great Men in History 132
Lord Byron: “Ode to Napoleon Bonaparte” (1814) 135

The Varieties of Truth

Suppression of the Newspapers (1800) 124
Articles for the Catholic Church (1802) 124
Napoleon Bonaparte: Napoleon in Exile: “We Stand as Martyrs to an Immortal Cause” 131
Francisco Goya: The Third of May, 1808 136

Chapter 7: “A World to Win!” The Industrial Revolution 137

The Power Structure

Andrew Ure: A Defense of the Factory System (1835) 149
David Ricardo: The Iron Law of Wages (1817) 157
The Chartist Demands (1838) 159
Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels: The Communist Manifesto (1848) 166

Social and Spiritual Values

Benjamin Disraeli: Sybil (1845) 143
The Sadler Report: “Not Many as Deformed as I Am” (1832) 144
Child Labor 146
Andrew Ure: A Defense of the Factory System (1835) 149
Friedrich Engels: The Condition of the Working Class in England (1844) 151
The Impact of the Factory System on Women and the Family 152
Olaudah Equiano: “A Scene of Horror Almost Inconceivable” 154
William Wilberforce: “We Can No Longer Plead Ignorance” 155
Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels: The Communist Manifesto (1848) 166

Revolution and Historical Transition

Olaudah Equiano: “A Scene of Horror Almost Inconceivable” 154
William Wilberforce: “We Can No Longer Plead Ignorance” 155
Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels: The Communist Manifesto (1848) 166

The Varieties of Truth

Gustave Doré: Over London by Rail 162
Honoré Daumier: Third Class Carriage 163
Women in History

The Impact of the Factory System on Women and the Family 152

Chapter 8: Fatherland: The Power of Nationalism 174

The Political Structure

Prince Klemens von Metternich: The Conservative Confession of Faith 176
“To Avenge Ourselves against a Frightful Tyranny” 181
Guiseppe Garibaldi: Proclamation for the Liberation of Sicily (1860) 188
King Victor Emmanuel II Address to the Italian Parliament (1871) 189
Otto von Bismarck: “We Germans Fear God, and Nothing Else in the World”: Speech to the Reichstag (1888) 190

Theodor Herzl: The Jewish State (1896) 193
The Basel Program (1897) 194

Social and Spiritual Values

Johann Gottlieb Fichte: Stirrings: The People and the Fatherland 178
Giuseppe Mazzini: The Duties of Man 180
Eugène Delacroix: Greece on the Ruins of Misolonghi (1826) 183
Otto von Bismarck: “We Germans Fear God, and Nothing Else in the World”: Speech to the Reichstag (1888) 190

Theodor Herzl: The Jewish State (1896) 193

Imperialism

“To Avenge Ourselves against a Frightful Tyranny” 181
Eugène Delacroix: Greece on the Ruins of Misolonghi (1826) 183
Otto von Bismarck: “We Germans Fear God, and Nothing Else in the World”: Speech to the Reichstag (1888) 190

The Basel Program (1897) 194

The Institution and the Individual

Johann Gottlieb Fichte: Stirrings: The People and the Fatherland 178
Giuseppe Mazzini: The Duties of Man 180
Alexis de Tocqueville: “A Moderate Amount of Happiness for All Men” 184
Guiseppe Garibaldi: Proclamation for the Liberation of Sicily (1860) 188
King Victor Emmanuel II Address to the Italian Parliament (1871) 189
Otto von Bismarck: “We Germans Fear God, and Nothing Else in the World”: Speech to the Reichstag (1888) 190

Theodor Herzl: The Jewish State (1896) 193

The Varieties of Truth

Eugène Delacroix: Greece on the Ruins of Misolonghi (1826) 183
Otto von Bismarck: “We Germans Fear God, and Nothing Else in the World”: Speech to the Reichstag (1888) 190

Theodor Herzl: The Jewish State (1896) 193

Women in History

Eugène Delacroix: Greece on the Ruins of Misolonghi (1826) 183

Chapter 9: “Mark Them with Your Dead!”
The Scramble for Global Empire 195

The Power Structure

Joseph Chamberlain: The Mandate System: Britain’s Duty in Egypt (1890) 202
xxviii  Thematic Contents

Jules Ferry: “France Must Be a Great Country!”
(1883)  203
Kaiser Wilhelm II: Germany’s Place in the Sun (1900)  204

Social and Spiritual Values
Charles Darwin: The Descent of Man (1871)  199
Rudyard Kipling: “The White Man’s Burden”
(1899)  205
Thomas Babington Macaulay: Education in India:
“The Intrinsic Superiority of Western Literature” (1835)  207
Robert Louis Stevenson: “Foreign Children”  208
Sir Frederick Dealtry Lugard: “A Natural Inclination to Submit to a Higher Authority” (1893)  209

The Institution and the Individual
Charles Darwin: The Descent of Man (1871)  199
Karl Pearson: The Standpoint of Science (1900)  200
Rudyard Kipling: “The White Man’s Burden” (1899)  205
Robert Louis Stevenson: “Foreign Children”  208
Frederick Starr: The “White Man’s Face”: Terror in the Congo  211
Mark Twain: “The Battle Hymn of the Republic” (Brought Down to Date)  212

Imperialism
Joseph Chamberlain: The Mandate System: Britain’s Duty in Egypt (1890)  202
Jules Ferry: “France Must Be a Great Country!” (1883)  203
Kaiser Wilhelm II: Germany’s Place in the Sun (1900)  204
Rudyard Kipling: “The White Man’s Burden” (1899)  205
Thomas Babington Macaulay: Education in India:
“The Intrinsic Superiority of Western Literature” (1835)  207
Robert Louis Stevenson: “Foreign Children”  208
Sir Frederick Dealtry Lugard: “A Natural Inclination to Submit to a Higher Authority” (1893)  209

Frederick Starr: The “White Man’s Face”: Terror in the Congo  211
Mark Twain: “The Battle Hymn of the Republic” (Brought Down to Date)  212

The Varieties of Truth
Rudyard Kipling: “The White Man’s Burden” (1899)  205
Robert Louis Stevenson: “Foreign Children”  208
Mark Twain: “The Battle Hymn of the Republic” (Brought Down to Date)  212

Chapter 10: Fin de Siècle: The Birth of the Modern Era  213

The Power Structure
Seneca Falls Declaration (1848)  217
Francis Parkman: Against Woman Suffrage (1884)  218
George Romanes: “The Brain Weight of Women Is Five Ounces Less Than That of Men” (1887)  221
Emmeline Pankhurst: “I Incite This Meeting to Rebellion” (1912)  227

Social and Spiritual Values
Seneca Falls Declaration (1848)  217
Pauline Roland and Jeanne Deroine: “Sisters of America! Your Sisters of France Are United with You” (1851)  218
Francis Parkman: Against Woman Suffrage (1884)  218
George Romanes: “The Brain Weight of Women Is Five Ounces Less Than That of Men” (1887)  221
Henrik Ibsen: A Doll’s House (1879)  222
Friedrich Nietzsche: Faith, Love, and Hope:
“Enough! Enough!” (1887)  230
“God Is Dead!”  232

The Institution and the Individual
Henrik Ibsen: A Doll’s House (1879)  222
Josephine Butler: “This Is the Logic of Demons!” 226
Emmeline Pankhurst: “I Incite This Meeting to Rebellion” (1912) 227
Friedrich Nietzsche: Faith, Love, and Hope: “Enough! Enough!” (1887) 230
“God Is Dead!” 232
Edvard Munch: The Scream (1893) 233

Revolution and Historical Transition
Seneca Falls Declaration (1848) 217
Josephine Butler: “This Is the Logic of Demons!” 226
Emmeline Pankhurst: “I Incite This Meeting to Rebellion” (1912) 227

The Varieties of Truth
Francis Parkman: Against Woman Suffrage (1884) 218

PART III: THE TWENTIETH CENTURY AND BEYOND

Chapter 11: The Great War (1914–1918) 235

The Power Structure
Statutes of “The Black Hand” 242
Assassination at Sarajevo: The Plot and Murder (June 28, 1914) 242
Kaiser Wilhelm II: “The Sword Is Drawn!” (August 18, 1914) 244

Social and Spiritual Values
Norman Angell: “Blind Obedience to Primitive Instincts” (1910) 240
J. Knight-Adkin: No Man’s Land 250
W. N. Ewer: “Five Souls” 255
Otto Dix: Dance of Death in the Year ’17: Dead Man Hill 256
Sigmund Freud: “If You Want to Endure Life—Prepare for Death” 260

The Institution and the Individual
The Battle of Verdun (February–December 1916) 247
The Battle of the Somme (July–November 1916) 249
J. Knight-Adkin: No Man’s Land 250
“What Are You Fighting For, Michel?” 251
Baron Manfred von Richthofen: “An Englishman for Breakfast” 252
Ernst Udet: “On the Other Side of the Boundary” 254
W. N. Ewer: “Five Souls” 255
Richard Schiemender: A German War Letter: “One Blood-Soaked, Corpse-Strewn Field” 256
Anna Eisenmenger: A German Soldier Returns Home: “A Complete Stranger” 259
Sigmund Freud: “If You Want to Endure Life—Prepare for Death” 260
xxx Thematic Contents

Imperialism

Heinrich von Treitschke: “Without War, No State Could Exist” 239
Norman Angell: “Blind Obedience to Primitive Instincts” (1910) 240

Revolution and Historical Transition

Anna Eisenmenger: A German Soldier Returns Home: “A Complete Stranger” 259
Sigmund Freud: “If You Want to Endure Life–Prepare for Death” 260

The Varieties of Truth

Heinrich von Treitschke: “Without War, No State Could Exist” 239
Otto Dix: Dance of Death in the Year ’17: Dead Man Hill 256

Chapter 12: The Russian Revolution and the Development of the Soviet State (1917–1939) 262

The Power Structure

“A New, Free Russia Is Born!” First Declaration of the Provisional Government (March 19, 1917) 266
V. I. Lenin: The April Theses (April 20, 1917) 268
The Overthrow of the Provisional Government: “A New Page in the History of Russia” 269
Izvestia: “Little Good Is to Be Expected” (November 8, 1917) 270
V. I. Lenin: The Overthrow of the Provisional Government: “A New Page in the History of Russia” 269
Censorship of the Press (November 9, 1917) 271
Establishment of the Secret Police (December 20, 1917) 271
State and Revolution: The Transition from Capitalism to Communism (August 1917) 273
“Stalin Is Too Rude” (January 4, 1923) 278
Leon Trotsky: Stalin’s Falsification of History (1927) 279
Joseph Stalin: Industrialization: “Either Perish or Overtake Capitalistic Countries” (1931) 281
Collectivization and the Liquidation of the Kulaks (1929) 282
Pravda: “For the Fatherland!” (1936) 285
Andrei Vyshinsky: The Purge Trials: “Traitors Must Be Shot Like Dirty Dogs!” (1938) 286
The Gulag: “Stalin’s Sadistic Nature Thirsted for Blood!” (1938) 287
George Orwell: “Power Is in Tearing Human Minds to Pieces” 288

Social and Spiritual Values

Alexandra Kollontai: “Days of Grueling Work” 276
V. I. Lenin: The Communist Emancipation of Women (1920) 277
Vera Mukhina: Industrial Worker and Collective Farm Girl (1937) 283
Pravda: “For the Fatherland!” (1936) 285

The Institution and the Individual

Establishment of the Secret Police (December 20, 1917) 271
Vera Mukhina: Industrial Worker and Collective Farm Girl (1937) 283
George Orwell: “Power Is in Tearing Human Minds to Pieces” 288

Revolution and Historical Transition

V. I. Lenin: The April Theses (April 20, 1917) 268
The Overthrow of the Provisional Government: “A New Page in the History of Russia” 269
Izvestia: “Little Good Is To Be Expected” (November 8, 1917) 270
V. I. Lenin: The Overthrow of the Provisional Government: “A New Page in the History of Russia” 269
Censorship of the Press (November 9, 1917) 271
Establishment of the Secret Police (December 20, 1917) 271

State and Revolution: The Transition from Capitalism to Communism (August 1917) 273

Vera Mukhina: Industrial Worker and Collective Farm Girl (1937) 283

George Orwell: “Power Is in Tearing Human Minds to Pieces” 288

The Varieties of Truth

V. I. Lenin: “Stalin Is Too Rude” (January 4, 1923) 278

Leon Trotsky: Stalin’s Falsification of History (1927) 279

Vera Mukhina: Industrial Worker and Collective Farm Girl (1937) 283

George Orwell: “Power Is in Tearing Human Minds to Pieces” 288

Women in History

Alexandra Kollontai: “Days of Grueling Work” 276

V. I. Lenin: The Communist Emancipation of Women (1920) 277

Vera Mukhina: Industrial Worker and Collective Farm Girl (1937) 283

Chapter 13: Europe between the Wars: Fascism and the Nazi Rise to Power (1919–1939) 290

The Power Structure

Benito Mussolini: “The State’s Authority Was Ready for the Grave” (1922) 295

The Fascist March on Rome (October 26, 1922) 295

The Doctrine of Fascism: “This Will Be the Century of the State” 296

Adolf Hitler: “I Resolved Now to Become a Politician” 298

Paul von Hindenburg: “Stabbed in the Back” (1919) 299

The Treaty of Versailles (1919) 299

The Weimar Constitution: Fundamental Rights and Duties of the Germans (1919) 301

The Nazi Program (1920) 303

National Socialist German Workers’ Party Nazi Political Rally Announcement (February 1921) 306

Nazi Victory by the Numbers: Elections to the German Reichstag (1924–1932) 309

Decree for the Protection of the People and State (February 28, 1933) 311

The Enabling Act (March 24, 1933) 311

Law against the New Formation of Parties (July 14, 1933) 312

Law Concerning the Head of the German State (August 1, 1934) 312

Hans and Sophie Scholl: Leaflets of “The White Rose” (1942) 318

Social and Spiritual Values

Joseph Goebbels: Nationalists, Socialists, and Jews (1930) 307

Free Germany! (1932) 309

Adolf Hitler: “Our Fanatical Fellow-Combatants” (September 8, 1934) 313

Hanna Schmitt: “The Disenfranchisement of Women” 314

Adolf Hitler: Hitler Youth: “Tough as Leather, Hard as Krupp Steel” 315

Joseph Goebbels: “Now I Know Which Road to Take” 317

Kurt Ludecke: “I Had Given Him My Heart” 317

The Institution and the Individual

Benito Mussolini: The Doctrine of Fascism: “This Will Be the Century of the State” 296

Adolf Hitler: “I Resolved Now to Become a Politician” 298

Lilo Linke: Inflation: “The Boiling Kettle of a Wicked Witch” 302

Adolf Hitler: Hitler Youth: “Tough as Leather, Hard as Krupp Steel” 315

Joseph Goebbels: “Now I Know Which Road to Take” 317

Kurt Ludecke: “I Had Given Him My Heart” 317
Revolution and Historical Transition

Benito Mussolini: “The State’s Authority Was Ready for the Grave” (1922) 295
The Fascist March on Rome (October 26, 1922) 295
The Doctrine of Fascism: “This Will Be the Century of the State” 296
Decree for the Protection of the People and State (February 28, 1933) 311
The Enabling Act (March 24, 1933) 311
Law against the New Formation of Parties (July 14, 1933) 312
Law Concerning the Head of the German State (August 1, 1934) 312
Hans and Sophie Scholl: Leaflets of “The White Rose” (1942) 318

The Varieties of Truth

Benito Mussolini: The Doctrine of Fascism: “This Will Be the Century of the State” 296
Joseph Goebbels: Nationalists, Socialists, and Jews (1930) 307
Free Germany! (1932) 309
Joseph Goebbels: “Now I Know Which Road to Take” 317
Kurt Ludecke: “I Had Given Him My Heart” 317
Hans and Sophie Scholl: Leaflets of “The White Rose” (1942) 318

Women in History

Adolf Hitler: “Our Fanatical Fellow-Combatants” (September 8, 1934) 313
Hanna Schmitt: “The Disenfranchisement of Women” 314
Hans and Sophie Scholl: Leaflets of “The White Rose” (1942) 318

Chapter 14: “The Abyss Also Looks into You”: War and Holocaust (1939–1945) 321

The Power Structure

Adolf Hitler: “The Misery of the Sudeten Germans Is Indescribable” (September 12, 1938) 326

“Czechoslovakia Has Ceased to Exist” (March 15, 1939) 327
Neville Chamberlain: “I Bitterly Regret What Has Now Occurred” (March 15, 1939) 328
Adolf Hitler: “Our Enemies Are Little Worms” (August 22, 1939) 329
Neville Chamberlain: “Everything I Have Hoped for Has Crashed into Ruins” (September 3, 1939) 330

“Jewish Ghettos Shall Have to Be Created” (November 12, 1938) 343
Adolf Hitler: “The Annihilation of the Jewish Race in Europe!” (January 30, 1939) 344
Joseph Goebbels: “The Jews Are to Blame!” (1941) 344
Hermann Goering: “A Complete Solution to the Jewish Question” (July 31, 1941) 345
The Wannsee Conference (January 20, 1942) 346
Sites of Nazi Concentration Camps 347
Rudolf Hoess: Genocide 348
Hermann Gräbe: The Pit 349
Kurt Gerstein: Gas 351
Mobile Killing 352
Dr. Franz Blaha: Nazi Medical Experiments 352
Rudolf Hoess: Commandant of Auschwitz 353
Joseph Goebbels: Nazi Problems in the Warsaw Ghetto (May 1, 1943) 355
Jürgen Stroop: The Destruction of the Warsaw Ghetto (May 1943) 355
Manifesto of the Jewish Resistance in Vilna (September 1943) 356
Justice Robert H. Jackson: Nuremberg: The Crimes of the Nazi Regime 366

Social and Spiritual Values

Winston Churchill: Alone: “Their Finest Hour” (June 18, 1940) 334
The Battle of Britain: “So Much Owed by So Many to So Few” (August 20, 1940) 334
Adolf Hitler: The Jewish Peril (April 1923) 340
“Not a Single Jew” (1932) 341
Ernst Hiemer: “I Got You at Last, You Little German Girl!” (1938) 342
Joseph Goebbels: “The Jews Are to Blame!” (1941) 344
President Bill Clinton: “When They Were Young, These Men Saved the World” 361
President Barack Obama: The Vision at Sixty-Five 362
Thucydides: The Funeral Oration of Pericles 363
Justice Robert H. Jackson: Nuremberg: The Crimes of the Nazi Regime 366

The Institution and the Individual
Mrs. Robert Henrey: London Aflame! 335
Elizabeth Hawes: Women in the Factories: “My Hands Are as Smooth as the Steel I Worked On” (August 1943) 337
President Bill Clinton: “When They Were Young, These Men Saved the World” 361
President Barack Obama: The Vision at Sixty-Five 362
Thucydides: The Funeral Oration of Pericles 363
Justice Robert H. Jackson: Nuremberg: The Crimes of the Nazi Regime 366
Jean-Paul Sartre: The Existential Perspective (1956) 367

Imperialism
Adolf Hitler: “The Misery of the Sudeten Germans Is Indescribable” (September 12, 1938) 326
“Czechoslovakia Has Ceased to Exist” (March 15, 1939) 327
“Our Enemies Are Little Worms” (August 22, 1939) 329
Winston Churchill: Alone: “Their Finest Hour” (June 18, 1940) 334
The Battle of Britain: “So Much Owed by So Many to So Few” (August 20, 1940) 334
Mrs. Robert Henrey: London Aflame! 335
President Franklin Delano Roosevelt: “A Date Which Will Live in Infamy” 336
Ken Russell: The Paratrooper: “He Was Blown Away” 359
Harold Baumgarten: The Assault on Omaha Beach: “I’m Hit! I’m Hit!” 360
Harry S. Truman: The Destruction of Hiroshima (August 6, 1945) 364

Revolution and Historical Transition
Hermann Goering: “A Complete Solution to the Jewish Question” (July 31, 1941) 345
The Wannsee Conference (January 20, 1942) 346
Manifesto of the Jewish Resistance in Vilna (September 1943) 356
President Bill Clinton: “When They Were Young, These Men Saved the World” 361
President Barack Obama: The Vision at Sixty-Five 362
Thucydides: The Funeral Oration of Pericles 363
Justice Robert H. Jackson: Nuremberg: The Crimes of the Nazi Regime 366
Jean-Paul Sartre: The Existential Perspective (1956) 367

The Varieties of Truth
Adolf Hitler: “Our Enemies Are Little Worms” (August 22, 1939) 329
The Jewish Peril (April 1923) 340
“Not a Single Jew” (1932) 341
Ernst Hiemer: “I Got You at Last, You Little German Girl!” (1938) 342
Joseph Goebbels: “The Jews Are to Blame!” (1941) 344
Rudolf Hoess: Commandant of Auschwitz 353

Women in History
Mrs. Robert Henrey: London Aflame! 335
Elizabeth Hawes: Women in the Factories: “My Hands Are as Smooth as the Steel I Worked On” (August 1943) 337

Chapter 15: The Era of the Superpowers: Cold War Confrontation (1945–1990) 369

The Power Structure
George C. Marshall: The Marshall Plan (June 1947) 374
Program for the Welfare State: The Beveridge Report 375
Thematic Contents

Revolution and Historical Transition
- Ho Chi Minh: Vietnam: “Determined to Fight to the Bitter End” (1945) 377
- Jawaharal Nehru: British Rule in India (1946) 379
- Abdul Gamal Nasser: The Arab Nationalist Movement and Revolution (1958) 380
- Prague Spring: The Brezhnev Doctrine (1968) 394
- Mikhail Gorbachev: Perestroika and the Socialist Renewal of Society (September 11, 1989) 400
- Gorbachev’s Resignation: “This Society Has Acquired Freedom” (December 25, 1991) 402

The Varieties of Truth
- Joseph Stalin: The Soviet Victory: Capitalism versus Communism (February 1946) 383
- Theodore White: Marx Was Wrong: The Flaws of Communism (1953) 386
- How to Spot a Communist (1955) 388
- Mikhail Gorbachev: Gorbachev’s Resignation: “This Society Has Acquired Freedom” (December 25, 1991) 402

Chapter 16: The Dynamics of Change in the Contemporary World (1990–2010) 406

The Power Structure
- Helmut Kohl: A United Germany in a United Europe (June 5, 1990) 410
- François Mitterrand: The Reconciliation of France and Germany (September 24, 1990) 411
- Václav Havel: “Czechoslovakia Is Returning to Europe” (February 21, 1990) 412
- Vladimir Putin: Communism: “Far Away from the Mainstream of Civilization” (December 31, 1999) 413
Helmut Tuerk: Ethnic Strife in Eastern Europe (April 15, 1994) 417
President George W. Bush: “We Wage a War to Save Civilization Itself” (2001) 423
President Barack Obama: Turkey and the European Union (2009) 430
“A New Beginning” (June 6, 2009) 431
President Barack Obama and President Nicholas Sarkozy: “The Burqa Is Not Welcome in France”: The Press Conference (June 6, 2009) 435

Social and Spiritual Values
Helmut Tuerk: Ethnic Strife in Eastern Europe (April 15, 1994) 417
Pope John Paul II: “We Are Witnesses to a Process of Death in the Balkans” (January 12, 1994) 421
President George W. Bush: “We Wage a War to Save Civilization Itself” (2001) 423
Prime Minister Tony Blair: “Fanaticism Is Not a State of Religion, but a State of Mind” (July 11, 2005) 427
President George W. Bush: “This Is Going to Be Freedom’s Century” (March 29, 2006) 428
President Barack Obama: Turkey and the European Union (2009) 430
“A New Beginning” (June 6, 2009) 431
President Barack Obama and President Nicholas Sarkozy: “The Burqa Is Not Welcome in France”: The Press Conference (June 6, 2009) 435

The Institution and the Individual
Pope John Paul II: “We Are Witnesses to a Process of Death in the Balkans” (January 12, 1994) 421
President Barack Obama and President Nicholas Sarkozy: “The Burqa Is Not Welcome in France”: The Press Conference (June 6, 2009) 435

Imperialism
Helmut Tuerk: Ethnic Strife in Eastern Europe (April 15, 1994) 417
Pope John Paul II: “We Are Witnesses to a Process of Death in the Balkans” (January 12, 1994) 421
President George W. Bush: “We Wage a War to Save Civilization Itself” (2001) 423

Revolution and Historical Transition
Helmut Kohl: A United Germany in a United Europe (June 5, 1990) 410
François Mitterrand: The Reconciliation of France and Germany (September 24, 1990) 411
Václav Havel: “Czechoslovakia Is Returning to Europe” (February 21, 1990) 412
Vladimir Putin: Communism: “Far Away from the Mainstream of Civilization” (December 31, 1999) 413
Pope John Paul II: “We Are Witnesses to a Process of Death in the Balkans” (January 12, 1994) 421
President George W. Bush: “We Wage a War to Save Civilization Itself” (2001) 423
President Barack Obama: Turkey and the European Union (2009) 430
“A New Beginning” (June 6, 2009) 431

The Varieties of Truth
Vladimir Putin: Communism: “Far Away from the Mainstream of Civilization” (December 31, 1999) 413

Women in History
President Barack Obama and President Nicholas Sarkozy: “The Burqa Is Not Welcome in France”: The Press Conference (June 6, 2009) 435
The Roman orator Cicero once remarked, “History is the witness of the times, the torch of truth, the life of memory, the teacher of life, the messenger of antiquity.” In spite of these noble words, historians have often labored under the burden of justifying the value of studying events that are over and done. Humankind is practical, more concerned with its present and future than with its past. And yet the study of history provides us with unique opportunities for self-knowledge. It teaches us what we have done and therefore helps define what we are. On a less abstract level, the study of history enables us to judge present circumstance by drawing on the laboratory of the past. Those who have lived and died, through their recorded attitudes, actions, and ideas, have left a legacy of experience.

One of the best ways to travel through time and space and perceive the very humanness that lies at the root of history is through the study of primary sources. These are the documents, coins, letters, inscriptions, art, music, architecture, and monuments of past ages. The task of historians is to evaluate this evidence with a critical eye and then construct a narrative that is consistent with the “facts” as they have established them. Such interpretations are inherently subjective and therefore open to dispute. History is thus filled with controversy as historians argue their way toward the so-called “truth.” The only way to work toward an understanding of the past is through personal examination of the primary sources.

Yet, for the beginning student, this poses some difficulties. Such inquiry casts the student adrift from the security of accepting the “truth” as revealed in a textbook. In fact, history is too often presented in a deceptively objective manner; one learns facts and dates in an effort to obtain the “right” answers for multiple-choice tests. But the student who has wrestled with primary sources and has experienced voices from the past on a more intimate level accepts the responsibility of evaluation and judgment. He or she understands that history does not easily lend itself to “right” answers but demands reflection on the problems that have confronted past societies and are at play even in our contemporary world. Cicero was right in viewing history as the “life of memory.” But human memory is fragile, and the records of the past can be destroyed or distorted. Without the past, people have nothing with which to judge what they are told in the present. Truth then becomes the preserve of the ruler or government, no longer relative, but absolute. The study of history, and primary sources in particular, goes far in making people aware of the continuity of humankind and the progress of civilization.

Aspects of Western Civilization offers the student an opportunity to evaluate the primary sources of the past and to do so in a structured and organized format. The documents provided are diverse and include state papers, secret dispatches, letters, diary accounts, poems, newspaper articles, papal encyclicals, propaganda flyers, and trial testimony. Occasionally, the assessments of modern historians are included to lend perspective. All give testimony to human endeavor in Western societies. Yet this two-volume book has been conceived as more than a simple compilation of primary sources. The subtitle of the work, Problems and Sources in History, gives true indication of the nature of its premise. It is meant to provide the student with thoughtful and engaging material focused around individual units that encompass time periods, specific events, and historical questions. Students learn from the past most effectively when posed with problems that have meaning for their own lives.

In evaluating the material from Aspects of Western Civilization, the student will discover that issues are not nearly as simple as they may appear at first glance. Historical sources often contradict each other and truth then depends on logic and one's own experience and outlook on life. Throughout these volumes, the student is confronted with basic questions regarding historical development, human nature, moral action, and practical necessity. The text is therefore broad in its scope and incorporates a wide variety of political, social, economic, religious, intellectual, and scientific issues. It is internally organized around seven major themes that provide direction and cohesion to the text while allowing for originality of thought in both written and oral analysis:

1. The Power Structure: What are the institutions of authority in Western societies and how have they been structured to achieve political, social, and economic stability? This theme seeks to introduce the student to the various systems of rule that have shaped Western civilization: classical democracy, representative democracy (republican government), oligarchy, constitutional monarchy, divine-right monarchy, theocracy, and dictatorship (especially fascism and totalitarian rule). What are the advantages and drawbacks to each? This rubric also includes the concepts of balance of power and containment, principles of succession, geopolitics, and social and economic theories such as capitalism, communism, and socialism.

2. Social and Spiritual Values: The Judeo-Christian and Islamic heritage of Western civilization form the basis of this theme. How have religious values and moral attitudes affected the course of Western history? Is there a natural competition between Church and State as two controlling units in society? Which is more influential, which legacy more enduring? How has religion been used as a means of securing political power or of instituting social change? To what extent have spiritual reform movements resulted in a change of political or social policy? Are ideas more potent than any army? Why have so many people died fighting for religions that abhor violence? Does every society need a spiritual foundation? Also included in this rubric are sources that express the values of particular societies, thus affording comparison with others.

3. The Institution and the Individual: What is the relationship between the institutions of society and the individual—between personal, creative expression in society and the governing political, religious, and social institutions of the age? How have writers, artists, and poets been variously employed through patronage systems to enhance political authority, perpetuate myths, and create heroes who embody the values of the age? What is the role of the rebel, the free thinker, who works against the grain and threatens the status quo by exploring new dimensions of thought or creative expression?

4. Imperialism: How has imperialism been justified throughout Western history and what are the moral implications of gaining and maintaining an empire? Is defensive imperialism a practical foreign policy option? Is containment essentially a defensive or offensive policy? This theme is often juxtaposed with subtopics of nationalism, war, altruism, and human nature.

5. Revolution and Historical Transition: This theme seeks to define and examine the varieties of revolution: political, intellectual, economic, social, and artistic. What are the underlying and precipitating causes of political revolution? How essential is the intellectual foundation? Do technological and economic revolutions have a direct correlation to political or social revolutions? Does an artistic revolution stem from political change or a shifting of social realities? This theme focuses on transition through historical or artistic periods and encourages students to debate and develop their own philosophy of historical change.

6. The Varieties of Truth: What is the role of propaganda in history? Many sections examine the use and abuse of information, often in connection with absolute government, revolution, imperialism, or genocide. What roles do art, architecture, poetry, and literature play in the “creation of belief” and in the successful consolidation of power? This theme emphasizes the relativity of truth and stresses the responsibility of the individual to assess the validity of evidence.

7. Women in History: The text intends to help remedy the widespread omission of women from the history of Western society and to develop an appreciation for their contributions to the intellectual and political framework of Western civilization. At issue is how women have been viewed—or rendered invisible—throughout history and how individually and collectively their presence is inextricably linked with the development and progress of civilization. This inclusive approach stresses the importance of achieving a perspective that lends value and practical application to history.

STRUCTURE OF ASPECTS OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION

The main strength of the text lies in its structure and the direction given to the student through introductions to each primary source. Study questions promote analysis and evoke critical response. Each chapter follows the same format:

- Timeline Chronological Overview: These brief one word, as above and in Vol. 2 are designed to give students a visual perspective of the main events, movements, and personalities discussed in the chapter. Each chapter also has a Key Events chronology for historical continuity.

- Quotations: These are statements from various historians, artists, philosophers, diplomats, literary figures, and religious spokespersons who offer insight and give perspective on the subject matter of the chapter.

- Chapter Themes: Each chapter is framed by several questions that direct the reader to broader issues and comparative perspectives found in the ideas and events of other chapters. This feature acknowledges the changing perspectives of different eras while linking historical problems that emphasize the continuity of history.

- General Introduction: A general introduction then provides a brief historical background and focuses on the themes or questions to be discussed in the chapter.

- Headnotes: These are extensive introductions that explain in detail the historical or biographical background of each primary source. They also focus on themes and discuss interrelationships with other relevant primary sources.

- Primary Sources: The sources provided are diverse and include excerpts from drama and literature, short stories, speeches, letters, diary accounts, poems, newspaper articles, philosophical tracts, propaganda flyers, and works of art and architecture.

- Study Questions: A series of study questions conclude each source or chapter section and present a basis for oral discussion or written analysis. The study questions do not seek mere regurgitation of information but demand a more thoughtful response that is based on reflective analysis of the primary sources.

FEATURES AND INTEGRATED FORMAT

The study of history is necessarily an integrative experience. Aspects of Western Civilization provides insight into the interrelationships among art, music, literature, poetry, and architecture during various historical periods. Students are linked to relevant historical events, broader artistic movements, styles, and historiography through four unique features of the text:

1. The Artistic Vision: This feature emphasizes the creative processes and vision of an artist who embodies a dominant style of the period or expresses the social or spiritual values of the age. This feature includes architecture as an expression of culture and presents a visual analysis of painting and sculpture, architectural floor plans, religious shrines, theaters, or other monuments that are important cultural expressions of a particular society.

2. Against the Grain: This feature focuses on those who don't fit or are in conflict with their societies but embody the edge of creative change and set new artistic or historical parameters: the outsider, the radical mind, the free thinker. What impact does the individual have on the historical landscape? To what extent does progress depend on those who threaten the status quo and seek new directions outside the mainstream?

3. The Reflection in the Mirror: This feature offers an analysis of a focused moral or philosophical problem within a culture. It emphasizes the more abstract themes of progress and decline, arrogance and power, salvation, the impact of war and disease, the conflict between science and religion, the relationship between divinity and humanity, and the importance of human memory and creativity when juxtaposed with technological progress. This feature promotes thoughtful reflection at critical moments of change.

4. The Historian at Work: This is a feature of Volume 1 that provides a longer and more extensive analysis of the work of an historian who is a central source for our knowledge of the period. This feature allows students to view the creation of history by critically assessing method and understanding how the individual strengths and weaknesses of particular historians actually limit or enhance our perspective on the past and affect our assessment of truth.

USING ASPECTS OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION

Aspects of Western Civilization offers the instructor a wide variety of didactic applications. The primary purpose of the text is to develop in students a more refined sense of the value of history through a critical assessment of primary sources. Toward that end, Aspects is designed to supplement various textbooks that provide a foundational historical narrative. Yet because of the introductory essays and detailed headnotes, Aspects provides an extensive historical framework so that student discussion and written analysis can always be achieved with perspective. The following suggestions should help instructors understand more clearly the full didactic structure and overriding intent of Aspects of Western Civilization:

Developing Historical Continuity: The chapters fit into a more or less standard lecture format and are ordered chronologically. There is a historical flow to each chapter that is structured from the outset with a Timeline for students who are more visual in their approach to learning. But each chapter is supplemented with an expanded Key Events chronology. This is not just a list of dates, but a short explanation of the primary events of the historical period under discussion that should help the student focus information and gain clarity. The Key Events chronology is designed as a guidepost at appropriate moments in the chapter to act as a point of reference for a better understanding of historical periods and the essence of complex ideas.

Quotations: Presented at the beginning of each chapter or sometimes at the beginning of major chapter sections, the quotations are designed to spark interest and encourage class discussion as an intellectual supplement to the primary sources. Therefore, the quotations are selected for their controversial perspectives or their philosophical applicability to the historical themes at play in the chapter. They also demonstrate the eternal applicability of historical problems or issues across time. Several of the study questions refer to these quotations.

Study Questions: The study questions form the heart of this text and guide the student experience throughout. They are designed to establish a common foundation for discussion and critical assessment and to provide a framework for students to think and react in oral or written analysis. The study questions follow each source or chapter section and are divided into three separate types of questions, each numbered for easy reference and designed to develop a range of answers on several levels of complexity:

- Consider This: These questions are direct and pertain to individual sources. They are primarily designed to solicit specific information about the context and content of the primary source and sometimes ask follow-up comparative questions that link sources. They are rather limited in focus, but should provide a foundation for class discussion or a short paper. They demand some amount of regurgitation, but do not neglect important analytical possibilities. This is how instructors can engage the discussion and easily determine the extent of student understanding.

- The Broader Perspective: These questions go beyond foundational information and frame the larger, more abstract problems and perspectives of historical analysis: moral responsibility, justifications of power, definitions of freedom, decline or progress. These questions are more complex and challenging and they require more attention on the part of the instructor. But they stimulate discussions on a deeper level and seek to push students toward a more expansive awareness of the world around them.

- Keep in Mind: These questions occur at the beginning of primary sources contained only in the Features and help students analyze the source by providing a guidepost. They are designed to enhance discussion of a more complex topic.

The Written Assignment: Aspects of Western Civilization has been designed to promote both oral and written analysis. The study questions lend themselves to discussion, but the text has also been conceived as a vehicle for written assignments that are self-contained, are problem-oriented, promote reflection and analysis, and encourage responsible citation of particular primary sources.

- The Short Paper: This paper might run about two to four pages and focus on particular primary sources, pulling from the “Consider This” questions or in combination with one or more “Broader Perspective” questions. Since each study question is numbered, instructors can easily assign various combinations to students that would produce an engaged section analysis. This also works well for the framed debates in the

Thematic Contents: Located after the table of contents, the Thematic Contents groups each primary source by chapter according to the seven themes listed in the Preface. Some sources are cross-referenced under multiple rubrics as application warrants. Sources are listed by author where appropriate and are grouped within each rubric according to their position in the chapter. The Thematic Contents allows instructors to assign discussion or written assignments along thematic lines across chapters and sections. For example, a comparative paper regarding women's roles or the treatment of women in different societies during the ancient, medieval, and modern worlds can be structured by identifying these sources in the Thematic Contents and assigning their accompanying study questions. Parenthetical citation of page numbers will establish credibility. Additional themes may be selected or blended to expand perspective.

NEW TO THIS EDITION

The seventh edition of Aspects of Western Civilization maintains a balanced coverage of historical periods while restructuring several chapters and enhancing coverage in particular areas. It also offers additional pedagogical resources for the instructor and guidance for students.

- Structural Changes: There are two new chapters in Volume 2 designed to help students better understand the development of nationalism and subsequent political unification movements during the nineteenth century ("Paths of Glory: Napoleon and the Romantic Movement" and "Fatherland: the Power of Nationalism"). Chapter 10 ("Fin de Siècle: The Birth of the Modern Era") has been restructured for greater continuity. There are also two new chapters added at the end of Volume 2 ("The Era of the Superpowers: Cold War Confrontation" and "The Dynamics of Change in the Contemporary World") in order to expand coverage of the Cold War from 1945 to 1990 and to focus in greater detail on events in the contemporary world from 1990 to 2010.

- Enhanced Coverage: Beyond the additional coverage from 1945 to 2010, several chapters in both volumes have been expanded to enhance the study of important topics: Hebrew prophets (Amos and Isaiah), early Greek literature (Sappho, Pindar, and Hesiod), values in the early and middle Roman Republic (Livy), and visions of the New World (Thomas More and Michel de Montaigne) in Volume 1. Enhanced coverage in Volume 2 includes the American Declaration of Independence; Romantic poetry of Schiller, Goethe, and Byron; perspectives on the slave trade from Olaudah Equiano and William Wilberforce; additional nationalist sources from Alexis de Tocqueville and Theodor Herzl; and enhanced coverage of nineteenth-century feminist movements (Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott, and Ibsen's A Doll's House). Several selections have also been added to the coverage of the Holocaust and there are new sections on Serbian genocide in the Balkans in the 1990s, including the papal response. Coverage of the Cold War focuses on internal rebellion (Hungarian and Czechoslovakian revolutions), the Brezhnev Doctrine, and post–Cold War developments of Eastern European and Balkan states. Finally, a new section on the Islamic world and the West concentrates on economic relationships between Turkey and the European Union, and Muslim relationships with France and the United States.

- New Feature Selections: Several new feature selections have been added to the seventh edition, including a new rubric in Volume 1 entitled "The Historian at Work." This section introduces students to historiography as well as to critical method, and provides longer excerpts from several of the most important historians of the ancient and medieval worlds (Herodotus, Thucydides, Livy, Tacitus, Josephus, Appian, and Usamah Ibn-Munqidh). New feature selections often focus on the integration of art and architecture into the political mainstream as revolutionary cultural elements (Giotto, Bernini and St. Peter’s Basilica, Beethoven’s Eroica Symphony, Francisco Goya and Napoleon, Eugène Delacroix and the Greek Revolution of 1820, the social perspective by train during the Industrial Revolution, the insular world of Edvard Munch, and the nightmare visions of Otto Dix during World War I). New features also include Theodor Herzl and the Zionist movement, excerpts from A Doll's House by Henrik Ibsen, Pope John Paul II on the Serbian genocide, and President Obama’s 2009 speech to the Muslim world in Egypt regarding “a new beginning” with the West.

- New Pedagogical Aids: Every effort has been made in the seventh edition to aid both instructors and students in using the text for discussions and class papers. Opening chapter essays and introductions to the primary sources have been reviewed and edited to establish a strong sense of historical continuity, and study questions have been clarified and refined to solicit specific information and offer a broader perspective on the abstract implications of ideas and events. I have inserted additional secondary sources on the decline of the Roman Empire and focused some questions on contending ideas under the rubric: “Taking Sides.” I have edited and modernized translations to clarify ideas and bring older idioms into conformity with modern usage. Study questions have been numbered within each chapter for easier reference in class discussions and written assignments. New Key Events chronologies have been added to each chapter and placed near corresponding coverage. This should give students a solid historical reference point. Finally, a new Thematic table of contents is available to instructors to assist in developing comparative ideas across time.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I would particularly like to thank friends and colleagues who contributed their expertise and enthusiasm to this book. Susan Altan lent her perspective and sensitive awareness of women’s issues at critical moments when new avenues of thought were most needed. Daniel Hall and Thomas Tappan advised me on several scientific and technological matters that broadened the scope of the text immeasurably. Linda Swarlis and Mary Ann Leonard offered their unique perspectives regarding ethical issues, which often caused me to pause and certainly forced the introduction of new questions into the discussion. Marsha Ryan provided me with material and literary insight that added greatly to the accuracy of the text, and Jack Guy read drafts of some chapters, offering sterling commentary throughout. Thanks also to the students of Columbus School for Girls, who continue to test the chapters in this book with their typical diligence and hard work; the final product has benefited greatly from their suggestions and ideas. The following reviewers provided helpful suggestions and insights: Anthony Heideman, Front Range Community College; David Proctor, Tufts University; and David Stone, Kansas State University. Finally, I owe an immeasurable debt to my wife, Ann, who suffered all the outrageous fortune and disruption that goes into writing a book of this kind over a period of years—she did it with me.

P. M. R.